Lack of consideration is one of the penalties of genius. Now take us and Lindbergh, for instance. Everybody knows of Lindy's troubles, but just muse over the treatment accorded us in the Razz Berry.

First those Pi Deltas, in a more or less thrilling expose, proved to their satisfaction, at least, that we are an alien, that we are not in the University, that we have many aliases, that we are often inebriated. Then, as a sop to our pride, they quote words that we never said at all. "Tell all the scandal but the people won't believe it." Incongruous, at best.

We hereby disclaim all connection with that scurrilous sheet, and although we admit Irish parentage, we contend that we most decidedly are enrolled in school. If they don't believe it, we will be on G Street, campus Thursday at five o'clock, and we'll be the sixteenth one from the right end, wearing a purple and gray suit.

The rumor that we indulge in alcohol is unfounded, even if our namesake does have alcohol in its radiator to prevent its freezing. But despite these minor handicaps, the Razz Berry was good enough to create some excitement, even to the extent of censorship of a front-page story.

From the time when the Seventh Spasm was released to cover the Willard ballroom like a pink snowstorm, down to now, that deleted story has caused a lot of comment. Some say that it was all a hoax, and that no story was ever in the paper, but members of Pi Delta just look wise and say, "You're not the one to be thrown out of school if the story's found out." Much business of whispering follows, wherein fabulous prices are offered for the clipping, all to no avail.

Pi Delta members might find it profitable to sell the clippings, and retire on a fortune. Gamma Eta Zetas, however, snort and look wise, murmuring something about "the Petticoat." We shall wait hopefully.

A member of the Math Club says she can prove Fermat's "Last Theorem," which was concocted back in 1640. Now see what that idiotic title, "Two Times Two Equals Five" started. Only in this case, if it can be proved that $x + y = z$, with all those letters taken to the nth power, where n is greater than two, with those same letters remaining integers, an unheard of number of rubles will be awarded as a prize. Then the next problem, and and our guess is it will take more than 288 years, is to figure the value of the said rubles.

The Intercollegiate Oratorical Contest, offering perfectly good American money as prizes, is under way, so we hear. While we are collecting national championships, we might as well add this one to our total. Perhaps if the rifle teams offered to persuade the judges.

Since intercollegiate competition is frowned upon by all leading colleges (sic), the field meet in which women from G. W., Maryland and Hood are to participate is to be different from the usual contest. Instead of having a George Washington team, a Maryland team, and a team from Hood, there will be several teams composed of women from all three jumbled together in a haphazard way. Then if a team loses, it will be the fault of co-eds from the other universities. A fine opportunity for buck-passing, we say.

In this day and age of no parking space, Coach Crum says that policemen have asked him to see that no "collich" boys drape their flippers in front of the Gym, where signs specifically forbid an auto to hesitate even for a mere second. The thought comes to us that Washington cops are unusually lenient with autos bearing foreign tags—even from Pennsylvania.

But business for the Pep Club dances will be entirely ruined if Tommy Tompkins can't park that blue Buick of his by the door.

An electric iron appears from somewhere and lands on our desk. We can't decide whether the iron is used to iron out difficulties in publishing the paper, or whether it's just connected with the press.

History courses are greatly worth while. It seems that some fair member of Doc Ragatz' modern European class (adv.), asked another who was reading a recommended book; Emil Ludwig's "Life of Napoleon," what she thought of it, and the following conversation ensued:

"Fine," was the reply.

"How do you like the chapter where Napoleon loses the battle of Waterloo?" continued the other.

"Don't tell me anything in the book," pleaded the first. "I want it all to be new to me."

What more could be asked for?

DICK ROLLO.

PLAY DAY TO BE HELD AT CENTRAL MAY 5TH

Hood College and University of Maryland to Come Here for Meet With Co-eds

The Women's Athletic Council and the G. W. Club held a meeting in the gymnasium Monday, April 2, to discuss plans for Play Day which is to be held at the Central High School Stadium on May 5th. At this meeting committees were appointed to take care of the various details.

The colleges which have been invited to join George Washington in the plans for a field day are Hood College, University of Maryland and Goucher College. Acceptances have been received from the first two schools, but not from Goucher.

The sports which will be included in the program of events are baseball, archery, tennis and track. The committees are planning to divide the entire group into teams for participation in the events irrespective of college.

This is a new movement in women's athletics, which enables colleges which do not enter into collegiate sports to participate with other colleges in athletics.

LECTURE GIVEN ON TELEVISION

Mr. Francis Jenkins Speaks To Educational Association In Corcoran Hall

IS SUCCESSFUL INVENTOR

Outstanding Authority on Radio Transmission; Made First Satisfactory Moving Picture Machine

Francis Jenkins, inventor, lectured on television to the Educational Association of the District of Columbia on Saturday, March 31, in Corcoran Hall. Mr. Jenkins is the first successful inventor of the moving picture machine, and is, outstanding in radio transmission of pictures. He illustrated and explained the method of transmission, the principle of which has been known for fifty years. The difficulty has lain in the perfection of the mechanism, which depends on the analysis of the picture subject.

Mr. Jenkins has developed a process for transmitting weather maps to ships at sea, so that they may be automatically recorded on board-ship, which is far superior to the method which was proposed in Germany, of recording maps photographically. Mr. Jenkins' invention makes it possible to locate and avoid storm centers more easily than by code message, which, also, fail sometimes to reach a ship located in a static area.

Mr. Jenkins is now perfecting home sets for movie transmission, which he expects to have on the market by Christmas of this year. He describes them as looking like our grandmothers' washstands.

Mr. Jenkins has also worked on many side-lines for interest. He has received numerous medals in recognition of his work.

COLUMBIAN MEN LOSE BIG DEBATE

Filipino Club Debaters Win Contest by Judges' Vote of Two to One

FAVOR RETENTION OF P. I.

Gambon and Quijano Assail Opponents' Imperialistic Attitude in Plea for Immediate Independence

The Imperialistic debaters of the Columbian Debating Society lost their biggest and most exciting debate of the year to the team of the Filipino Club of Washington, D. C., last Friday night, March 30, in Corcoran Hall 1, by the judges' vote of two to one.

About sixty Filipinos and thirty Americans witnessed the debaters speak on the question: "Resolved, That immediate independence should be granted to the Philippine Islands." Spontaneous outbursts and loud manifestations of patriotism were made by several Filipino speakers and by their followers.

Charles V. Laughlin, of the G. W. Law School, and James G. Wingo, of the G. W. Columbian College, represented the Columbian Debating Society and spoke on the negative side of the question. Felipe Gambon, of the American University, and Juan R. Quijano, of Georgetown University, composed the Filipino Club aggregation.

After the debate President E. C. Gallagher turned the house into an open forum. William Williamson, who was scheduled to be one of the debaters of the negative but was unable to participate, was recognized by the presiding officer. He spoke against immediate independence. J. F. Jackson, of the Columbian, spoke in favor of immediate Philippine independence.

The audience was asked to vote on its personal conviction on the question. The result was an overwhelming majority in favor of Philippine independence.

The judges were three Americans connected with the Department of Commerce.

Six new men were initiated by Pi Delta Epsilon, national collegiate honorary journalism fraternity, last night at a banquet at the Hamilton Hotel.

G. W.-COLUMBIA MUSICAL CLUBS IN DUAL CONCERT

Concert and Dance to Be Staged At Hotel Washington April 14

SECOND APPEARANCE OF CLUB IN JOINT CONCERT

Appearance With Columbia Group Climax of Season for G. W. Glee Club

The George Washington and the Columbia University Men's Glee Clubs will appear in a joint concert in the Hall of Nations at the Washington Hotel on the evening of Saturday, April 14, from 8.30 to 10. Immediately following the concert a dance will be given to continue until one o'clock. Elmer Brown's six-piece orchestra will furnish the music.

This entertainment is unique in the fact that but once before, has the George Washington University Glee Club appeared in a joint concert. The Columbia University Glee Club is composed of thirty-two men, including accompanists and soloists and their appearance on the same program with the George Washington Glee Club should prove interesting.

Ensemble of Eighty Voices

The combined glee clubs will present an ensemble of eighty voices. They will render a program of classical and standard songs. The feature selection will be "Now Let Every Tongue Adore Thee" by Bach.

The Columbia University Glee Club, collaborating with the George Washington Glee Club in Saturday night's program, is on a week's tour of surrounding cities. Arriving in Washington Friday evening, April 13, they will be entertained by the various fraternities on the campus until their departure for Philadelphia the following Sunday morning.

The Columbia University Glee Club is one of the charter members of the Intercollegiate Glee Club Association of New York, and by virtue of this fact, is entered each year in the Intercollegiate Glee Club contest without previous examination or competition. This glee club was formed 1875, and at the present is under the direction of Mr. Walter Henry Hall, professor of church and choral music at Columbia University and director of the University choir.

The activities and achievements of the George Washington Glee Club, of 57 men, under the able direction of Robert Howe Harmon, are well known to all George Washington and Washington audiences. It is also, a fitting climax to a successful season that they appear in a joint concert with the visiting glee club.

Prominent women of Washington society will be the patronesses of the affair. The program is being sponsored by Dean Doyle and Dean Eapham.

The price for the evening's entertainment will be $1.00, and tickets will be on sale at the Treasurer's Office and by individual members of the Glee Club.

WASHINGTON, D. C., WEDNESDAY, APRIL 4, 1928

THE GLEE CLUB

Once more we point with pride to a George Washington organization. The Men's Glee Club plans to conclude brilliantly a brilliant season with a joint concert with the Columbia University Glee Club, one of the oldest and most widely known Glee Clubs of the country. This is a fitting climax to a season which has been in every way effective. The Glee Club's annual appearance at a local theater is always the feature act of the big bill of a big week, and is, incidentally, responsible for an extremely substantial contribution to the Activities Fund, and during the past winter the Club has appeared on programs throughout the city in a way which has brought recognition to the Club and to the University behind it.

On Friday, April 13, the Club will put on the feature act at the B. F. Keith's Midnight Show, and on Saturday, April 14, they will sing with the Columbia Club at the Hotel Washington. Here are two opportunities for the school as a whole to express its deep and lasting pride in the quality of the achievements of this Glee Club of ours.

WHAT PRICE PARNASSUS?

The George Washington student can never forget that he—or she—is a part of a University whose qualities are distinctively its own. And one of these qualities is the fact that the University, however poignant and potent a part of the undergraduate's life it may become, can never take the place of absolute dominance over student businesses which a dormitory university automatically assumes. Peculiar joys and sorrows result from this.

The George Washington student as a rule is either an individual who is away from home and wholly or in part supporting himself, or one who is living at home and trying to live as though he were away at college, and in both cases there are difficulties entailed. The student who is working must necessarily consider his job—and it is usually a full-grown job—as his dominant interest; and the student who lives at home must somehow manage to combine the delightful but multitudinous activities of home and school.

Your typical college student has all his home circle activities packed into brief and breathless vacations, and for the rest of the school year must devote his energies to school activities. But your George Washington student must first convince his family that he is going to college and that he wants all the frills and frostings thereunto appertaining—and these frivolities take time which many families, long-suffering as they are, still contend might be spent more advantageously in the company of the afore-said family.

It all devolves into a question of managing your time so that you can have your cake and eat it, too—which, seriously speaking, we consider perfectly possible. But it takes a bit of managing, and blunders after the perfect time budget may be hurtful. But the student who learns how to do it has learned something about how to live—and because all colleges have not the power to bestow this gift, therein lies the peculiar power of our University.

NOW that the Interfraternity Council's contribution to the social season has gone on the books as "the most successful Prom ever given" we can all take a deep breath and contemplate Easter. Unless we (editorial) get injured in the big egg-rolling contest in the White House grounds Monday or consume too many hard-boiled eggs in to which the dye has penetrated, or can find nothing else to do, we'll see you at the Pi Phi tea-dance at the Washington.

Theta Delta Chi will hold their Easter Dance at the Columbia Country Club on Tuesday, April 10th. The music will be furnished by Tommy Tompkins' Troubadours.

Kappa Alpha Fraternity has the honor to announce the initiation of Judge Latimer of the Law School on Saturday, March 24.

The K. A.'s will hold another of their peppy dances. On "Lucky" Friday the thirteenth, with Dagmoir Orchestra furnishing the music for the lucky ones.

The Epsilon chapter of the Sigma Chi Fraternity will give a house dance on the evening of Friday, April 13, from 10 to 1. Eddy Randall's Entertainers will furnish the music.

The tea given by Theta Delta Chi Fraternity on Sunday, March 25, was one of the largest social events of the year. The charge house was filled to capacity with many graduates of the fraternity as well as the active charge and their friends. President Marvin, Dean Wilbur and Professor Kayser were among the notables that were present from the university.

Mu Chapter of Kappa Beta Pi legal sorority held its annual banquet at the Hotel Powhatan Saturday, March 31. Brief addresses were made by the Honorable Samuel C. Shortridge, U. S. Senator from California; Judge Kathryn Sellers of the District of Columbia Municipal Court and an honorary member of the sorority; Mrs. Elizabeth Harris, President of the Women's Bar Association of the District of Columbia; Dean William C. Van Vleck and Mr. Walter C. Clephane, of the faculty of the George Washington University Law School.

Betsy Booth entertained Helen Periam at St. Marks at luncheon, last Thursday.

Mysterious insense, shaded lights, and Far Eastern costumes created a very Oriental atmosphere at a charming party given by Miss Gypsy Leak last Wednesday evening for members and rushees of Chi Sigma Gamma.

The Lambda Phi Mu Medical Fraternity held its annual Faculty Dance at the New Willard Hotel on Saturday, March 24th. The dance was a joint affair, held by the Beta Chapter of George Washington and the Mu Chapter of Georgetown. "The Heart of a Rose" composed and played by Mr. M. Distefano and sung by Mr. F. Vita was one of the features of the entertainment for the evening. Among those present were Dr. and Mrs. G. B. Jenkins, who were chaperons for the evening, Dr. and Mrs. O. Hunter, Dr. and Mrs. T. Calgas, Dr. and Mrs. Robert J. Bosworth, Dr. James Boyd and Dr. and Mrs. O. J. Irish. In the afternoon preceding the dance the medical fraternity initiated the following new members: Michael Distefano, Michael Cuozzo, Casper Di Lorenzo, Frank Caprio, George Maggio, Joseph Nicotia and Paul Zero.

Zeta Tau Alpha announces the promising of Virginia Landen, Larry Worrell, Dorothy Worrell and Peggy Street.

Kappa Beta Pi legal sorority held an informal supper on March 25th at the home of Beatrice Clephane in Chevy Chase. After the supper, Mrs. Collier played several piano solos and Marion Campbell sang. Hester Beall, a member of the chapter, who is also a teacher of literary interpretation, gave a few readings.

Zeta Tau Alpha formally pledged Molly Brinkley in its rooms, after which it held the initiation of its pledges, Una Baird, Betty Didden, Elizabeth Lowell, Elre Mooney and Marion Stewart. The initiation was followed by a supper at the Carlton Hotel, at which Marie Didden acted as toastmistress. Among the alumnae present were Beatrice Clephane, Frances James, Catherine Bennett, Elizabeth Masterson, Ada Swigart, Virginia Ronsaville and Julia Watkins.

Theta Delta Chi Fraternity held an annual election of officers during the last two meetings held on March 16th and 23rd. At the first meeting the following officers were elected: President, Richard Battle; Secretary, Lee Craighill; Treasurer, Fred McGhan; Corresponding Secretary, Bladen Marsteller. At the meeting held on March 23, another election was held, resulting in the following appointments: Interfraternity Delegate, Francis Tompkins; Fraternity Publication Editor, Earl Bassett, and Librarian, Erwin Stumm.

Omicron Alpha Tau Fraternity recently held elections for the coming year. The following were elected: Chancellor, William H. Simons; Vice Chancellor, Morris A. Klatzkin; Bursar, Joseph J. Prullitsky; Scribe, Leo Sydney D. Goodman. The formal installation will take place at the Hotel Carlton immediately following the spring vacation.

Alpha Delta Pi announces the formal pledging on Monday, April 2, of Virginia Crocker.

Helen Kerr left on Tuesday, March 27, for a three-weeks' visit to Havana, Cuba.

Gamma Beta Pi held a delightful dinner at the Iron Gate Inn on Thursday, March 29, in honor of the sorority basketball team. Other guests of honor were Miss Davis, Mrs. Russell, Mrs. Minnever Hostetter, Mrs. Thomas Stokes, and Miss Jane Raby Knox. Miss Florence Merriam was toastmaster.

Kappa Delta Sorority announces the formal pledging of Mary Crowley and Imogene Carter on Monday, March 26.

Alpha Delta Pi recently received a five-pound box of chocolates from Mr. Claude Curtis, to whom Miss Chita Brown, a pledge of the sorority, is engaged.

Beta Alpha of Phi Mu announces the formal initiation of Adaline Hefflinger.

Man Riled by Rivals' Time Claims

Rutherford, N. J. March 9, 1927

Larus & Bro. Co. Richmond, Va. Gentlemen:

I sure get some riled when I see where some fellow is crowing over the fact that being older, and having run into Edgeworth sooner than his less fortunate compatriots, he challenges the world as the champion long-time member of the Edgeworth Club.

He doesn't deserve any medals. He got his reward in the enjoyment of his smoking for the added number of years. He was just lucky in starting sooner, that's all.

However, if you care to delve into ancient history, look up when they first started to pull down the old Grand Central Station in New York, then add at least six months to that, and you will arrive at the approximate time when I first joined the club.

I have smoked at least one pipeful of every other tobacco I have seen advertised, sometimes through necessity, but most of the time to prove to myself that I have been right in sticking to the old blue tin.

Yours truly,
H. M. Wittridge

SKILL

THE twist of the wrist, the "throw" of the arm, the shifting of the weight—these are among the many little points which make the skill that you admire in the javelin thrower as he hurls the shaft two hundred feet or more.

As on the track or the football field, in the gymnasium or on the water, so in industry progress is the result of fine improvements—a thousandth of an inch here—a minute variation in a curve there—slight changes foreseen by engineers and carried out by skilled workmen.

It is this attention to detail that is constantly improving General Electric apparatus and contributing to the electrical industry, which, though still young, is already a dominant force, increasing profit and promoting success in every walk of life.

Whether you find this monogram on an electric refrigerator for the home or on a 200,000-horsepower turbine-generator for a power station, you can be sure that it stands for skilled engineering and high manufacturing quality.

G. W. RIFLE TEAM TAKES NATIONAL CHAMPION TITLE

Frank Parsons Shooting His Highest Score Leads Team To Victory

STOKESMEN UNDEFEATED; NOW HOLD THREE TITLES

Practice for the Big Outdoor Matches With Navy and West Point Under Way

The G. W. Riflemen finished the indoor season with a blaze of glory as they smothered Boston Tech by a fifty-three point margin Saturday night on the Colonial range. The boys swept on to higher records as they shot the biggest shoulder-to-shoulder score of the season. The M. I. T. team could do nothing to stop the fury of the onslaught and stood helplessly by marvelling at the prowess of their opponents.

Shooting the best score of his career and tying Leighy's high score for the season, Frank Parsons again led the team to victory and won the last leg on the coveted Individual Trophy of the men's team. The presentation will probably take place at a special banquet to be given in the near future. Before the match Parsons and Campbell had sworn to avenge their defeats by Harbeck, crack shot of the New England team. Harbeck was second high individual in the National Team Match this year winning over Parsons by one point and was first in the same match last year with a two-point lead over Campbell. Parsons attained his desire and won by a six-point margin. His teammate although outshooting his opponent kneeling and prone could not equal his splendid standing score as Parsons had done and was forced to accept defeat.

The Stokesmen shot in excellent form and bettered their opponents in every position. Getting off to an early lead in the prone stage, G. W. fairly walked away in the later stages. The match was a fitting climax to the most successful season in the history of the rifle team.

Official Scores Released
The official scores of the National Intercollegiate shot last Saturday have been released by the N. R. A. and confirm the G. W. Riflemen Champions by a wide margin. The three high teams in the National Match were George Washington with 1332, West Virginia with 1316, and Kansas A. & M. with 1291. Cahalan of Columbia with 281 was high individual for the match. Harbeck of M. I. T. was second with 279, and Frank Parsons of G. W. was third with 278.

Team Takes Trophy
The outcome of this match brings to G. W. the most valuable trophy ever won by the rifle team. This trophy, which is valued at over two hundred and fifty dollars is now held by the University of Missouri and will reach Washington in the near future. In addition to this trophy the team will receive for its permanent possession an accompanying Certificate of Victory. Individual members of the team will receive bronze and silver medals.

Having lost not a single match and having won three titles, South Eastern Regional, South Eastern League and the National Championships, the Colonial Riflemen have closed their season on the indoor range. Practice for the big outdoor matches with Navy and West Point is already under way. These matches together with the Outdoor Intercollegiate will constitute the spring program.

SPRING FOOTBALL GETS UNDER WAY

Daily Workouts Now In Progress At Tidal Basin Field

REGULARS ASSIST CRUM

Carey, Clapper, Goldman and Stehman Coaching Under Crum's Direction

Training for the spring football squad, which numbers about 35 men, started Monday afternoon, March 26, at the Georgetown University Freshman Field. Recently, its activities have been shifted to the Tidal Basin, where daily workouts are now in progress.

Coach Crum has decided to introduce and familiarize the new men with plays and formations which he will use next fall, so that no time will be lost in getting started next September at the training camp. With this end in view, he now has two teams of candidates running through plays and learning the fundamentals of different formations which the Colonials are expected to employ in their games.

Men From Squad Assist
Aiding him in this preliminary seasoning are four men of last year's squad: Carey, Clapper, Goldman and Captain-elect Stehman, at present, coaching the new men in the methods used by Coach Crum. Clapper and Goldman are with a group of men, imparting to them the essentials of a linemen, while Carey is working with the ends. The backfield aspirants are under Coach Crum.

The first two days of practice consisted merely in loosening up exercises, a game of leap frog, and running. Later, the individual groups were working out their own individual tasks. Under this arrangement, the backs were practicing running with the ball, passing, and punting. Linemen were blocking, bucking and charging.

During the latter part of the week, backs were passing to ends with a fair degree of accuracy. The men were also instructed in getting down under punts. Each day's practice is ended with a game of "touch" football, which adds the zest of the real game to the training, without the possibility of injury, in this early stage.

Beside the "Iron Men" from last year, David, former star for Western High School, Coombs and Berkovitz are showing up well in the backfield, while Blain and Rollins from last year's Freshman team are in the line. Terry, Freshman quarterback last year, is unable to practice at present, but is expected to report in the fall and strengthen the team materially.

VARSITY SEXTET DEFEATS ALUMS

First Annual Match Between Varsity and Alumnae Teams Goes to Varsity

OMWAKE, TURNBULL STAR

Slow Post-Season Game Shows Neither Speed Nor Pass Work; Score 33 to 12

The George Washington women's varsity basketball team succeeded in downing the alumnae combination to the tune of 33-12, Monday night, in the gymnasium.

Louise Omwake and Jenny Turnbull, the fast varsity combination, succeeded in keeping the ball in their forward territory long enough to enable Crumley, McGregor and Lawton to sink 14 baskets and 5 foul shots.

The outstanding work was done by Winnie Faunce, who effectively broke up the passes between Merla Mathews and Alys Ewers, forwards for the alumnae.

Neither Alums nor Varsity showed their usual speed during the first half of the game, which ended in a 16-8 lead for the Varsity basketweavers.

Final Score 33-12

The second half started at top speed with a succession of quick shots scoring points for the Varsity line-up. The Alums brought their total up to twelve before the final whistle blew. The game ended 33-12 with the Varsity tossers on the heavy end of the score.

Summary:

CHANGE IN POLICY OF SCHOLARSHIPS NOW ANNOUNCED

Each High School To Receive
One Award, Beginning
1928

EXAMINATIONS DROPPED. AWARDS GO ON RECORDS

Kendall Scholarship to go to Central Winner; Winners Picked by Faculties

In contrast to the policy used in previous years, each Washington high school will receive one four-year scholarship annually to George Washington University, beginning June, 1928.

Up to this time, the awards have been made on the basis of a series of examinations conducted by the University. The student making the highest grades each year received the Kendall Scholarship and the next six students were awarded the six University Scholarships.

The principal and faculty of each of the five high schools will determine the winners, using scholastic records as guides. Because students of Central High School have been most successful in the competitive examinations of previous years, the winner from that school will receive the honor of the Kendall Scholarship.

Each of the awards will continue to carry four years' tuition in the Columbian College, School of Engineering, or Teachers College.

In June, 1927, these scholarships were won by the following students: Dorothy Albert (Kendall Scholarship), Jean McGregor, Judith Wood, Marjorie Kelm, Martha Benenson, John Thacker, and Francesca Martin.

The previous year, Lewis N. Dembitz, Frank H. Weitzell, Virginia Shull, John R. Swanton, William W. Dyer, Louise Cooke, and Joseph Sorrell were the winners.

ORATORY TRIALS ARE ON

competing and the place have not as yet been determined, but notice will be sent out by Mr. Randolph Leigh, of the Washington Star, to the debating council as soon as final arrangements have been made. There will be seven regional contests which will include colleges throughout the United States. The regional winners will automatically be entitled to a place in the national finals to be held at Los Angeles on June 21st, and also, entitled to one of the seven prizes, provided the contestant exercises his right to speak in the finals.

The contest was inaugurated and is conducted by the Better America Federation of California. The contest is held for the promotion of interest in the Constitution and the orations to be delivered must be on The Constitution or some outstanding statesman and his relation to the Constitution. Only undergraduate students are eligible.

The judges of the contest are to regard it as fundamental that the orations must be of such a character as to increase interest in and respect for the Constitution of the United States. Judges will be selected by the contest management and will be instructed to attach equal importance to composition and delivery in making the awards.

Prizes Aggregate $5,000

An aggregate of $5,000.00 will be given in prizes to be distributed among the seven finalists as follows: first prize, $1,500; second, $1,000; third, $750; fourth, $550; fifth, $450; sixth, $400; and seventh, $350.

The orations are to be original and must not require over ten minutes for delivery.

GLEE CLUB OF COLUMBIA UNIVERSITY, NEW YORK CITY

MATH CLUB WILL HEAR PROOF BY MRS. JONES

G. W. Student Thinks She Has Proved Fermat's Theory; Prize
Offered for Solution

A demonstration of her proof of Fermat's "Last Theorem," by Mrs. Lenora H. Jones, a student in the University, is scheduled to take place before the next meeting of the Mathematics Club, which will be held Wednesday, April 18.

Proposed in 1640 by the French mathematician for whom it is named, a satisfactory proof of this proposition has been the object of much research. The theorem states that if n is greater than 2, the relation $x^n + y^n = z^n$ can not be satisfied by integers. Over 1000 proofs have been published, but flaws have been discovered in all of them.

In the event that the "math sharks" of the University fail to find any weak points in Mrs. Jones' proof, it will be submitted to the scrutiny of other authorities on this subject, including a prominent professor at Johns Hopkins University. Mrs. Jones hopes finally to present her proof to a European Academy, which is the custodian of a large prize to be awarded for the first successful proof of this theorem, provided that the proof is found acceptable to a certain committee, and that its sponsor complies with certain other conditions.

As large an attendance as possible is desired at this meeting, because Mrs. Jones wants as much criticism, either pro or con, as can be secured. "Even freshmen should find it easy to follow my proof," Mrs. Jones says, "for its simplicity is astonishing." Everyone is welcome at the Math Club's meetings, and there are no dues. This meeting will be in Corcoran Hall, Room 22, Wednesday evening, April 18, and will begin at 8 o'clock.
